Hello, I am in Connecticut and have a capen Upright grand piano from 1902 originating from NY. The piano has not been tuned but I have done some research and if it was to be refinished it would be worth anywhere from $14-$24,000. The piano has been in my family for generations. I am told that it is made of hondorin mahogany wood from trees over 200 years old that maintain great sound and quality.
