This upright piano is a solid ol' girl! All she needs is a little TLC and a good home. Great for someone interested in learning on an authentic upright piano. She's not completely out of tune, and all keys and pedals function as they should, albeit not as snappy as a brand new instrument. Keys have a lovely weight and response to them.

I'm looking to depart with this piano as soon as possible. I just recently moved and it came with the apartment. My apartment is small and it takes up quite a bit of my precious real-estate. My landlord has informed me that he wishes to see it gone to but is unwilling to get rid of it himself and I am free to do with it as I please. This is why I'm looking to find it a good home as a first option instead of having it hauled away as junk.

As I stated, the piano is FREE, but there is a catch... I live on a second floor apartment with NO ELEVATOR, so what that would mean is professional movers would have to be hired at your expense to have it transported to it's new home.

If you have any questions please let me know, hoping to see this piano to it's new forever home!
